Hello, Wes Penre here. This is going to be an amazing video series, in our opinion. The information we're going to share is the most important project up to this day because it paints a much bigger picture. Some of it might be difficult to grasp, so we will use graphic design in some of the videos to better explain our concept, and transcripts are available for download—link in the description box below. Please listen carefully—several times, if necessary, because for many, this will be a complete paradigm shift.

All our previous videos and articles are culminating into one big picture. When we both had the desire to share our research, our experiences, and what we have learned, we really didn't know where we would end up. It felt like setting sail on a course without having a clear destination in mind. We knew we would arrive at some point, and not having a destination didn't mean we couldn't go ahead and start the journey. So here we are. A lot of what we have presented has been information gathered from previous experience. Some of it was research and experiences we were having at the time. Sometimes we would give you an article or video within minutes of a discussion when we were so enthusiastic about a sudden revelation. Others took weeks or months to develop before we felt comfortable and confident of the information.

You have been following along on our own journey. We are confident that our final destination is in sight. We have, recently, had most if not all our puzzle pieces fit into place and we are now prepared to begin giving you that picture. Keep in mind that this is OUR picture. This is our conclusions based on our experiences and others may have their own. That is perfectly okay. In fact, we encourage everyone to put their own puzzle pieces together and if your picture is different from ours, please tell us! We never stop learning as long as we are here, and we are not always correct in our interpretation of the different concepts we have come to understand. In fact, there are a few things we are going to correct about our own information as we move forward from this point on.

Is it necessary for you to learn what it is we have to say in order to leave this matrix? No. This information has come to us as a result of wanting to understand and know more about what has happened here, why are we in such a mess, and what can we do about it. We both have intentions for what we want to experience after we leave this construct, and we have now realized that this is part of that intention.

Some of what we present in our Big Picture will be a revisit of information we have presented in previous videos with a little more expansion added to it because we now see how this information fits into the big overall picture. Some of our previous information will be corrected when we have misinterpreted a concept, and some of the information will be new. We will be placing these pieces into the puzzle for you to show you how we have come to our conclusions.

As always, this is just our conclusions. We trust that those who see things from a similar perspective will be able to understand how these pieces fit together. If these pieces are not fitting together for others, that's okay. We each must follow our own guidance and have our own experiences. We want to be co-creators and we want to share our experiences with others so that they may benefit from having this information.
