Hello, this is Wes Penre. This video is not a part of the upcoming video series we've promoted—we're still putting the last pieces together and we are also waiting for the graphic designers to get finished. So, we will insert this video, and perhaps a couple of others, in between. This particular video is very important to understand, as well. It's about what they are planning for us, once the Singularity fully strikes, and how this is related to crypto-currency. So, here we go:

Yesterday morning, we watched a very interesting video from Dick Allgire, who is probably one of the world's best remote viewers, known for working with Courtney Brown at the Farsight Institute, but is now also remote viewing crypto-currency, having his own channel. The results are presented on his YouTube channel, CryptoViewing. Some time ago, he teamed up with a significant Insider, who knows what is being planned when it comes to crypto-currency, and this Insider also has some advice how to navigate through these confusing times of financial upheavals and changes. Dick is relaying much of that information to us on YouTube.

Those who have read my e-book, "Synthetic Intelligence and the Transmutation of Humankind — A Roadmap to the Singularity and Beyond," which is available for free on my blog, wespenrepublications.home.blog, might remember that I discussed what is potentially going to happen when AI completely takes over all our jobs and we have nothing to do anymore. How do we get our income, and how do we survive in such a society? After all, we need to eat, we need shelter, furniture, clothes, and many other things. Who is going to provide us with all this if we don't have any income? I did research on this when I wrote the book, and my suggestion was that the Government somehow was going to provide us with money, but I didn't have any solid idea how that was actually going to work out. Now, Ariel and I think we do, and it's VERY cleverly set up!

We have seen for years that robots and AI are taking over more and more jobs that human used to do, and many people have been laid off work over the last few years—myself included. It's also getting more difficult to get new jobs, unless you're educated in something connected with our future, i.e. machine technology and AI. Dick Allgire, in his latest video, explains how it most probably is going to pan out.

The Overlords' goal seems to be to take all jobs away from all humans and let AI take over everything in business and trade. Subsequently, the educational system and other institutions will also line up with this, resulting in that no humans are necessary on the job market, whatsoever.

What Allgire tells us is that in the future, all humans need to do is to, more or less, sit at home in front of a computer, smartphone, or any other similar device with 5G connection, and give out information about ourselves on the Internet. It can be via programs like Facebook, YouTube, chatrooms, and similar, like we're used to today, but also, they will probably want us to give feedback on products we buy online, take surveys, and in general, give information to the so-called "Cloud," which IS the Super-Computer I wrote about in my e-book. This way, the Cloud is always going to be updated with our information and kept current.

Here is the "brilliance" behind this agenda: every time you submit something on the Internet, related to yourself, your emotions, opinions, personality, private information, or act and react to other people's communication, you get paid with crypto-currency! You can choose not to do this, but then you don't get any income. Therefore, they consider us having freewill of choice; we either follow the monetary guidelines or we starve. Fiat currency will be completely obsolete, worldwide, so we would not benefit from storing U.S. dollars, for example, for future need. Soon, everything needs to be transferred into crypto-currency. You can choose not to go this route and become self-sufficient, but then you need to keep in mind that you can't buy and sell without having a crypto-currency wallet; fiat money will become useless. This, as we see it, is the Mark of the Beast that the Bible is talking about, which will culminate in the "Digital Identity." The plan is to implement this Digital ID by 2020 (see link in the description box below for reference).

So, this is how we look at this information: every time we interact with the Internet, we reveal something about ourselves. Each interaction will give us a very small amount of crypto, which means that we need to spend hours upon hour online every day, in order to get enough cryptos to make ends meet—that will be everybody's job. All humankind will be absorbed by technology, and we will basically live online, feeding the System, aka the Cloud, and ultimately the Alien Invader Force (AIF), aka the Overlords. They will get total control over our lives because people will feel they have no choice, just like people have felt, up to this day, that they have no choice but to work, in order to get paid and be able to feed themselves and their family.

OK, so will get paid in crypto when you are online. Then, how do you get the merchandize you need, if no humans are running the stores and businesses? The answer is self-explanatory. You order everything online—something people already do to a great extent. Whatever you order will then be delivered to your door, without you having to do anything. As recent as yesterday, Ariel and I saw on TV how Fed-Ex has now developed a robot that will deliver all packages to your doorsteps. This robot can even climb stairs. So, this agenda is already well in progress. And those who have read my e-book also know that Amazon.com is replacing their workers with robots, and so are many other companies right now.

The car industry, which works together with the Insurance Companies, gives you devices, monitoring your driving pattern. They tell you that the purpose is to give you discount on your insurance, if you drive carefully and within speed limit, etc. However, could you possibly see a bigger agenda behind this? Could it be that the next step is to have us accept that all car companies put in monitoring devices in all new cars, so that every move you make is being monitored? Thus, if you follow the traffic rules, you get rewarded in crypto, but when you break the rules or the law, such as exceeding the speed limit, crypto coins will automatically be reduced from your crypto-wallet—in other words, the fine, as soon as you don't follow the guidelines, will be instantly withdrawn from your account, after an AI voice, inserted into your car, tells you that you just broke the law, and such and such amount will be reduced from your wallet? We would say yes, this is where we're heading.

This transcript is written on a laptop. I predict that in the very near future, laptops and computers, in general, will be considered stone age. Instead, the new iPhones/smartphones will be more and more developed, and the resolution so great that we don't need laptops anymore—as you have noticed, we started out with gigantic computers, developing into desktops, laptops, iPads, and smartphones. The devices have become smaller and smaller, until now, they fit in our pocket. Eventually, chips will most probably be implanted into us, so we don't even need the phones anymore. The Elite and the Overlords want us to use our PHONES, rather than our computers. Why? Because we can bring the phones with us wherever you go--just put it in your pocket. At least to begin with, these phones will look like mini laptops that you fold and unfold. These phones are already developed. If we go back to what Dick Allgire said in his video, everybody on this planet—including tribes in Africa who don't even have toilets yet--will get smartphones delivered to them. This is not something that will happen in the future—it's already happening, and I proved that in my e-book, as well—it's being done as we speak.

So, this is the plan, and it's very well thought out. The purpose with all this, as explained earlier in this video, is for the EL-ite (EL like in Elohim) and their Masters to have us under complete surveillance and to constantly make us update the Cloud with our soul energy. This is also where "The Internet of Things" comes into the picture. All facilities, Smart Homes and Smart Cities will be completely AI based, and every time we use the equipment in the house, we are sending information to the Cloud. This is all a big part of the Singularity. And when you call a company on your phone, AI is going to answer your questions—something that already is being implemented by many companies.

This all might seem harmless right now, but this is really social conditioning. We are being trained to think that being monitored for everything we do is normal.

Before we end this video, we want to EMPHASIZE that all this is not going to happen some time in the future—IT'S HAPPENING NOW! We're in the middle of it. We are probably talking about a year or perhaps a few years before all of this has been implemented into our society. The Singularity will not happen overnight, like a bomb falling from the sky—we are IN the Singularity right now. It's just a matter of them finetuning and polishing things around the edges. Most people are already onboard, and the Elite sees it as a piece of cake to get the rest onboard. Their plan has worked out perfectly so far, and they expect nothing less than to put us all under their umbrella. If we don't pay attention, we won't even notice.

They have made it feel very convenient to use their technology, and now people think they can't live without it. Ariel and I are fully aware that many people who listen to this video will think, "What's wrong with this? It sounds pretty good to me." If you find yourself thinking in these terms, please consider checking out the rest of our information—both the Wes Penre Papers and our videos—and we'll see if you will change your mind. This is a matter of ULTIMATE control over humankind. Welcome to the Machine Kingdom!

Our suggestion is that you educate yourself on crypto-currency, blockchain technology, ID 2020, and the Social Credit System, to get at least a minimal understanding on this subject. Then, you can make your own conscious decision, and you won't depend on anyone else to tell you what you should do. Please realize that this IS the future they are planning for us, and the more prepared you are, the better you can navigate through this.
