The ancient texts slightly divert from the world-view we had just before Copernicus in the sense that in the more recent of the two, the Firmament with the fixed stars are placed in the First Heaven, hanging from the Dome/glass ceiling, and the rest of the celestial bodies are outside the Construct. In the more ancient texts, many of the celestial bodies in our solar system are below the Firmament, i.e. within the atmosphere. This is very interesting because although the two versions differ, they could both be considered fairly correct, following our hypothesis, and we'll explain:

We have often said that this Construct is a copy of the real Construct outside what we call the Patrix (masculine-dominated Construct, opposed to the Matrix, which is the feminine Construct, aka the KHAA), and that it's not the real thing. This is correct because, after the Rebellion, En.ki and his cohorts were stripped off their own creative abilities and could only mimic and copy what's already been created. The only thing En.ki had left to create with was Orion technology, which he'd learned to use by the Queen, before he was replaced as the Chief Scientist for the Tiamaat Experiment. Therefore, he created a bad, watered-down copy of what is out in the real KHAA. According to our research and conclusions, none of the REAL celestial bodies are within the Earth Construct, but copies of them are! En.ki "copied" his version of the solar system beneath the Firmament. He created the Seven Heavens, and each Heaven has a false celestial body connected to it. The First Heaven is the Moon, the Second Heaven is Mercury, the Third Heaven is Venus, the Fourth Heaven is the artificial Sun, the Fifth Heaven is Mars, the Sixth Heaven is Jupiter, and the Seventh Heaven is Saturn, which is the stargate that En.ki/Marduk closed after the Invasion was over. Saturn also closes En.ki's Construct and is guarded.

Trying to explain a complicated subject as easily as possible, the planets, the Sun, and the Moon we see in the sky are all objects or projections inside the Earth Construct. The Moon we observe is at a MUCH closer distance than we've been told—the same thing goes with the Sun. Even if we disregard evidence of this and just use common sense; look at the full moon next time and think about it; is it really as far away as NASA scientists has wanted us to believe, or is it just some odd miles up in the sky? Then look at the Sun and ponder the same thing. Even the stars and the planets are much closer than we've been told—there is plenty of good evidence for all this if we do some research into the fl.t Earth theory on the Internet (I can't pronounce the entire word on YouTube, or they might take down our video—it's been done to others. Fl.t stands for the opposite theory of Earth being spherical). Above the false celestial bodies are the star constellations, hanging from the Dome. The Quran is also quite on the same page regarding all this, we've noticed.

Here is a very interesting note! The reason I said, "scientist have WANTED US to believe," is because they have changed their minds recently. Scientists recently announced in public that the Moon is INSIDE THE ATMOSPHERE! They have now concluded that the atmosphere stretches far beyond what they previously thought (references will be in the description box below). So, by necessity, the science community seems to feel the need to give us some truths in increments to prepare us for what is to come—the false ascension and the return to the Golden Age. Moreover, how is science going to explain that they went to the Moon in the 60s when they now have discovered that the Moon is within the atmosphere? What about all the space-walks and other nonsense they have made us believe?

The planets we see in the sky are almost certainly not real. However, when we talk about the Seven Heavens representing celestial bodies, we do believe they are talking about the REAL planets and the REAL Sun and Moon, outside the Matrix. Therefore, the Pre-Copernicus version and the ancient texts or the Seven Heavens are all correct in their own way, depending on perspective. The diagrams of the Construct that were made by the ancients were just models, so humans can understand the principle behind the Construct.

After En.ki created the Seven Heavens, connected to the celestial bodies, he put a Lord to be in charge of, and guard, each Heaven. Moreover, he seems to have connected each Heaven with each of our chakras, so the Lords to some degree can control our physical bodies and the artificial light-bodies/avatars that surround the physical body. In WPP Level 5, I showed references to how Marduk hijacked the chakras, which is true, if we think of Marduk as an aspect of En.ki. It also seems like Thoth is in charge of one of the Heavens, as well, but other than that, the rest of the chakras are probably controlled by specifically selected Sirian Lords. Through this entire system, the Overlords can control us and feed from us. As mentioned in a previous video in this series, the different Heavens also represent the attributes of Spirit and soul.

Then, we have the Netherworld, which would exist beneath the surface of dry land. The Earth is honey-combed, and theoretically, if we would be able to dig deep enough, we would enter the underbelly of the surface, which would be the Netherworld. In Hinduism, the Netherworld, or the Naraka, consists of seven layers of Hell, depending on which text we refer to. The term “as above so below” also applies here. From what we understand, the Halls of Amenti, mentioned in The Emerald Tablets of Thoth, exist in the middle of these two realms, i.e. inside the honey-combed Earth.

When En.ki had created homo sapiens and manipulated us into inhabit them, he thereby had managed to throw the Namlu’u souls, who were used to having high density, half etheric bodies, into the deepest layer of matter. These new human bodies had chakras attached to seven light-bodies. All this was then connected with the Seven Realms of Heaven, controlled by the Overlords. The human Spirit/soul complex was now trapped in matter. En.ki knew that Spirit is superior to soul, so he wanted to make sure we did not become a threat to him. In his mind it’s all about power—if someone appears more powerful than him, he needs to suppress them, or he’s afraid they will start controlling HIM instead of him controlling THEM. These fake layers of light-bodies consist of En.ki’s artificial spirit/fire complex, which is put together with technology and is of the Patrix. None of it can survive outside the Construct. We call all this the “artificial soul,” subconscious mind, the reactive mind, or the reptilian brain/mind.

Now, let’s talk about the Rapture, the Ascension, the Harvest, and the Event, etc. It’s difficult to say exactly how this will pan out, but here is one plausible scenario:

We all know that we are heading toward the Singularity, and most humans are about to be trapped in this agenda. This will be an era where technology rules, and humans will become physically immortal because of nanotechnology. Those who choose this path will become a hive-mind, with a Cloud/Super-computer replacing the old Grid. Everybody will have access to each other’s thoughts and ideas by connecting to this hive-mind, as explained in my book about the Singularity (see description box below for URL).

Interestingly enough, it works in a similar way when it comes to Ascension. Most of the channeled entities, who use humans as their vessels, say they are us in the future, and they are from the fourth to sixth density. Those of the higher densities are all hive-minds, and most of them look very similar to the Grey aliens we all know about. Both the entities in the RA Material and the Cassiopaeans say that there are eight densities—seven densities, with the eight being the first density in the next octave. This corresponds with the Ogdoad—these humans have ascended one density/Heaven at the time. However, now it seems like the Ascension that people are waiting for will lead them directly to the Seventh Heaven, which indicates that this is a Major Harvest, while the previous ones have been partial Harvests. Those who graduated from previous Harvests did not reincarnate again on Earth but ascended up the octave—one octave at the time.

Now, En.ki is preparing for a new Golden Age, which would be the beginning of Atlantis. And here is the thing—the early Atlantis period in the past was actually the time when we lived on Tiamaat! This was the Golden Age. When En.ki took over, he continued a false Golden Age here by starting his own creation on Earth. The current plan is apparently to recreate his own Golden Age, mimicking our time on Tiamaat, but under his command. Once again, we are promised immortality.

Isn't it interesting, then, that the channeled entities, who promote this Golden Age, and who are probably advanced humans, harvested long ago, are also hive-minds with Grey body-types, wanting us to change timeline? Why do they want us to change timelines? Could it be because they want everybody on the same page so that En.ki can harvest as many humans as possible within the spiritual community? Could it be that the Singularity, the New Age Ascension, the Rapture, and the Event are all one and the same? Most people will be lured into the Singularity by technology, but the spiritual community will not. Therefore, the ascension processes are promoted to us by these ascended humans, so En.ki can get us, as well, and all of us—technological addicts and the spiritual community will all become part of the Singularity. Food for thought. We could also speculate that the so-called "star seed" and "crystal children" might be some of these previously harvested "advanced" humans incarnating on Earth right now to enlighten us, so we all go to En.ki's Seventh Heaven before we reincarnate again here on Earth—or a new version of Earth—and become "immortal" in the new Golden Age, which might very well be the Singularity.

The Grid was probably not put up until after the Flood. The Nag Hammadi mentions the Grid, as well, where it says that Earth is ultimately surrounded by a wall of fire, probably referring to soul-fire, i.e. the mass consciousness of the human soul group. The Grid is held in place with technology. Thus, the Dome/Firmament makes it impossible for us to leave the Construct while we're in human bodies, and the Grid makes it impossible to leave after body death, as well, except now when there are holes in the Grid system.

The late Dr. Andrew Basiago, who was a well-known researcher into UFOs, exopolitics, and similar subjects, said a few interesting things we would like to quote here. The first has to do with space travel:

"Dr. Eldon A. Byrd told me before he died in 2002 that the US Navy had determined that the world is a "set," a stage, as Shakespeare wrote, and that, when, for example, we "go to the Moon," the Matrix feeds us "going to the Moon." In such a situation, it matters little whether the Earth is round or flat but simply that it is Matrix-driven and contrived."

This is very much in line with what Dr. Tom Campbell is teaching.

The second quote is about the Grid:

"When going out of body during astral time travel after being spun during those exercises in Spring 1970, I encountered a physical barrier in the transphysical environment through which I could not pass. When I described it, the lady from DARPA who was debriefing me, said, and this is a direct quote: "It has been observed by others. We think it is the infrastructure generating the hologram in which we find ourselves. We're calling it The Matrix." This was 29 years before feature film The Matrix (1999) was released."

Just something more to ponder, isn't it?

The Overlords also hijacked some other star systems in the KHAA in addition to this one, and most of these have managed to see through the manipulation and have freed themselves. Some people have asked why we can't do it. We would suggest that this might have to do with that we are spirited, while the other star races were not. The other star races are most closely related to the soul aspect, while we, as spirited beings, have a more empathetic, loving, and compassionate perspective of things, which make us more prone to manipulation.

Others have asked questions about the nano-world vs. the reality we live in. The way we see it is that the third dimension, which is the physical realm, is super-imposed and therefore appears "bigger" than the nano-world, which exists in the space between particles (matter). The nano-world is what we call the non-physical world, where disembodied souls reside. These would be the higher dimensions of the KHAA.

Is there a way to bypass the KHAA and go to a more peaceful place where there are no wars and conflicts at all? We can't answer that question with any certainty, but the way we see it is that because the Queen is our Higher Self, we will stay in the KHAA as long as She does, but we will operate as individual Spirits and souls. However, instead of mingling with warrior-like star races, we can choose not to. There are many dimensions and densities to operate in and create from, and because we are not stuck in an amnesiac death construct when we're in the KHAA, we can move freely across the dimensions. There is no reason to get involved in conflicts if we don't want to. Because we are Spirits, we are already natural-born creator gods/goddesses, while star beings need to evolve in order to create on that level. The Pleroma, discussed in the Nag Hammadi texts, would be the Divine Feminine—the ALL THAT IS, which encapsulates everything in existence—including the KHAA. In that sense, we could say that we already live in the Pleroma.

Lastly, let's summarize the different aspects of Spirit and soul and who inhabits what:

1. We, the Namlu'u, are currently Spirit, KHAA soul, and artificial soul in one. Once outside the Patrix, we are Spirit and KHAA soul only.
2. Within the Patrix, we also have KHAA souled and artificially souled beings that are spiritless. Example of these would be souls from the KHAA, whom En.ki sucked into this System with technology, as described in the WPP. There are also some Vulcans and Orion MIKH-MAKH warriors trapped here.
3. There are those, who only consist of "artificial soul," and those are the ones we call narcissists, sociopaths, and psychopaths. These programs in human bodies only have one lifetime. After death, they dissolve. However, because this Construct is so heavily sunk down into the low frequency of deep matter, a little bit of Spirit is needed to animate a human body, and therefore, En.ki has also, with technology, created a false spirit, copied from true spirit, and "sprinkled" just enough of that into this category 3 in order to animate the body. This false spirit will also dissolve after body death. This is mentioned in the Nag Hammadi, as well.
4. In the KHAA, star races might not have Spirit—only soul. Because the density is higher in these star systems, Spirit is probably not needed to animate a body—here on Earth it is.
