Hi, this is Wes Penre! It's time for another Q&A session. Please submit more questions at wespenreproductions@gmail.com for the next Q&A video.

We are now including captions in our videos. If you want the captions on, just click the "CC" icon in the lower right corner of this video. A PDF transcript is also available on our blog, as well—URL to the transcript can be found in the description box below.

QUESTION 1: Has En.ki secured the Pesh[meten] (space trade highway) yet?

ANSWER: For those who don't know, Peshmeten is a galactic trade route that goes across the Milky Way galaxy and passes through our solar system. Our solar system happens to sit as a block on this galactic trade route, so the answer would be; so long as this Construct (the Patrix) is in the Overlords' hands, the route will remain blocked.

QUESTION 2: Do we forgive En.ki what he has done since he is part of Sophia, and, she is part of us? Is that why we must learn to forgive ourselves before others?

ANSWER: We wouldn't say that En.ki is part of Sophia, if we equate Sophia to the Queen. He is her son, but even that is something we interpret with our human limited frame of reference. What does mother and son really mean out there in the KHAA? Is it the exact same principle as we have here? We would personally not forgive En.ki for the crimes he and his cohorts have committed against humankind, but we believe it's important to forgive ourselves for the involvement in this tragic drama. It's natural to be resentful against these beings, but we believe it's important to process these emotions inside us. Not for their benefit but for ours. By doing so, we cut off the energetic band between us and them, and we won't keep any unnecessary attachment to these gods. Moreover, the more we're detached, the easier it is to focus on things that matter, such as our own learning and soul growth.

QUESTION 3: Are you secretly secretly Thoth??

ANSWER: No, definitely not—fortunately. Thoth is En.ki's son, and I'm glad I'm not.

QUESTION 4: During your earlier Big Picture Series videos about the earth or land mass being an even plane inside a bubble my question relates to getting out of the grid. There were diagrams shown of layers that consisted of the moon, Mercury, other planets, and then Saturn as the final one. When we exit the grid, do we have to go through all those other planetary grids too?

ANSWER: No, we don't. We are going to come back to this in a future video, discussing in more detail how this Patrix seems to be constructed, but for now, let us just say that we do not need to worry about any of these spheres. They exist within other planes or densities. All we need to do, when in the astral and after our bodies have expired, is to look up. We'll see the Grid above us, and we'll just spot a hole and exit. Moreover, we don't need to worry about the Firmament, either, which is more of a physical thing.

QUESTION 5: It seems we would not be able to "think" ourselves in any direction after death because we won't have a brain to think with. Could you address this sometime?

ANSWER: People who are having near death experiences (NDEs) or are having Out of Body Experiences (OBEs), how can they think if they are not in their body, where the brain is located? Obviously, they can. If you believe you have a soul and a mind, what happens to the soul/mind when the body, the brain included, dies? Will the soul be able to think without the brain? The soul/mind does not bring the body/brain with her. If the soul/mind won't be able to think, how can she operate in the non-physical? What's the purpose with having a soul/mind if it can't think? Could it be that the brain has other functions instead of thinking, despite what we've been taught in school? If the brain is not the thinking unit, what is? We just want you to ponder these things and see if you can find some clarity on this subject.

QUESTION 6: What is your opinion regarding the practice of “Traditional Witchcraft?” This is the old practice that’s many centuries old and is not to be confused with the “religion” Wicca. Traditional witches do believe in personal responsibility, whether they practice mental magic or gray spellwork, and they tend to create their own rituals from scratch, as opposed to more recent forms (i.e. Wicca) which follow certain founders.

ANSWER: What has been called witchcraft is a misunderstanding of the proper and responsible use of intention and energy. There is what is commonly called black and white witchcraft. What determines the difference? Intention. What is intention? Intention is the energy that you direct either toward yourself or to others (which will really come back to you, ultimately). Your intention can be evil (curse) or beneficial (blessing). When you offer someone a blessing, you are asking that the Universe bestow good things that are beneficial for that person.

If you are a religious worshiper, your blessings usually come from a God rather than the Universe. When you wish that someone should experience something bad or harmful, you are asking the Universe to rearrange the energy around this person to deliver the desired bad outcome. This doesn’t necessarily involve a Satanic deity or demon. Plenty of people pray to God that bad things should happen to other people, as well. A lot of people pray for God to punish others.

We all have the ability to manipulate energy and set intentions for ourselves. Setting intentions for someone else, however, is considered violating free will. Also, due to the Law of Attraction, your vibration will inevitably attract events in your life which are a match or in alignment with your state of being. If you are at a frequency where you wish harm to someone else, don’t be surprised if you also receive the same kind of harm that you are trying to inflict. Because you are casting it out, you are a match to receiving it. The only way to guarantee that we will be blessed is to bless others. What you wish or intend for others you will get for yourself – always.

QUESTION 7: You have mentioned in your material that one way we might nano-travel across the universe(s) is by going within ourselves as opposed to traveling “out there” externally in space. Is it possible you could elaborate specifically on how one might begin this “going within” process in a meditation? Maybe provide the first few steps if not all the steps? Would you consider making the full meditation available in some form for your patrons?

ANSWER: To be honest, we are not doing any traditional meditation, where we sit or lay down and go inward. We feel no need for that. Meditation for us (and this is subjective) is what we are doing when we are processing things we learn and things that come to mind that help us seeing the Bigger Picture. In order to do that, one needs to go inside, which is exactly what we are doing. In the long run, this becomes very natural, and the need for outside sources becomes less and less. With that said, it’s certainly nothing wrong with doing traditional meditation—whatever is beneficial for the individual. Both these techniques can be useful. If you meditate the way many people do, you can train yourself to go to a state where you are free from the mind-chatter, until your mind becomes silent. Once there, you are in a good position to send out thoughts and intentions into the KHAA, or wherever you want to send them. Because we don’t practice ordinary meditation, we would not be good instructors on that subject, unfortunately.

QUESTION 8: With reincarnation and soul fractals, would it be wise to assume events could be organised to harvest and reprogram souls to then flood us with 'advertising' in order for us to choose their agenda?

ANSWER: Yes, it would be wise to consider this as a possibility. Absolutely. In fact, we are suspicious that events are being orchestrated now for this purpose. It seems like this is being done all the time when it comes to the programming part. We are given certain narratives—either from channeled beings, some spiritual gurus, New Age gurus, and others, who promote a Harvest, and ascension, or an Event. Regardless of which of those people fall for, they end up in the same place—in En.ki’s false Heaven.

QUESTION 9: What do you know about Laura Eisenhower? Yes, she is related to the former U.S President Dwight D. Eisenhower and is his great-granddaughter. She does a lot of interviews on YouTube within the spiritual community. Is she a CIA operative or someone who is truly legitimate? I must confess she's extremely interesting to listen to in her various talks, lectures, and other interviews.

ANSWER: I don't know Laura personally, although we have chatted shortly on Facebook—she's a Facebook friend of mine. I have seen a few excerpts from videos where she is talking, but I know too little about her to have an opinion. Although she and I have different views on many things, she at least comes across as a serious researcher and spirited being. But again, I know too little about her to have an opinion.

QUESTION 10: So, the only problem I keep seeing and feeling the more I wake up is, if there are so many artificial souls on this planet, and they were created to be slaves, then how can you or anyone else truly know if there haven't been souls created to create false texts to try and keep people away from the truth?

ANSWER: Good question! Yes, there are those who are intentionally publishing false information to keep people away from the truth. This is a certainty. There are also those who are publishing what they think is truth, but they are not aware that they are being deceived. We are a mixed bag of opportunities for practice in discernment, that's for sure! This is why we encourage everyone to do their own research and come to their own conclusions as they relate to their own experiences. It's one thing to be told something, it's an entirely different thing to experience it for yourself and nothing is more credible than your own inner knowing.

When it comes to the ancient texts, they were often written by human scribes but dictated by the gods—the Overlords. Sometimes this was done in the physical between the god and the scribe, and sometimes the scribe channeled the information. The texts they left behind must be taken with a big pinch of salt because the Overlords have always twisted things in their favor. This makes it very difficult to separate the wheat from the chaff. That's when syncretism comes into play. We need to compare the behaviors of the different gods mentioned in the texts—all across the board—and we need to learn their agenda and their strategies. This is what was done in the Wes Penre Papers (WPP), but I was also fortunate enough to have an anonymous source, who is very familiar with these behaviors. This source is not part of the human soul group. And no, I'm not channeling.

QUESTION 11: [H]ow do you know that we are even wanted into higher existences because of how far gone mankind has become? Because if what I have heard, there were people long before any of what you and most modern teachings speak about, and when you think about old and new souls, then there had to have been people that carried on original teachings before we were enslaved and forced into the soul recycling. Have all these people moved on or have they been employed to keep us away from higher existences?

ANSWER: The original teachings we believe you refer to are the teachings available before this Patrix was constructed. These teachings came from Orion. The beings you probably refer to are the ones that were defeated in the Alien Invasion, when En.ki/Marduk destroyed our original planet Tiamat and killed many of the original Orion souls who were here. Only a limited number of them managed to escape through the Saturn star gate before that portal was closed by En.ki and his rebels.

QUESTION 12: It's been said that we are caught right after our physical death and taken to the recycling area (if we are not awakened yet). However, I have a hard time accepting this fact because there are those discarnate beings wandering, and feeding from us, or trying to communicate with their beloved. How come they haven't been caught yet? Could they have escaped the trap (tunnel) but did not know about the grid?

ANSWER: From what we have learned to this point, most of what we call disincarnate beings are actually highly energized thoughtforms that WE create. These thoughtforms, if given enough energy (fed with emotion) become self-aware and are able to seek out the appropriate energy/emotion on their own. This might also relate to loved ones who have passed on. If we feed the thoughtform projection of this person with enough emotion he/she, too, will become a self-aware entity which can then follow us around, for lack of a better description, seeking more and more love, grief, life experience, etc. from which to feed. This is likely what we will encounter in the afterlife experience of our loved-ones – a thoughtform projection built out of our memory and emotion attached to that loved-one. Our system is VERY interactive according to what information we give it. This may be greatly underestimated, based on our current research. Loved ones may be able to interact from the nonphysical realm for a short time after death, yes, but this is not years. It's more accurate to say days or weeks, in our measurement of time.

By the way, we just made a video on this exact subject; see our Video 149: "Thoughtforms and Entity Possession."
