Wes Penre here with a new Q&A Session! Thank you kindly for sending in questions! Anyone listening to this video can submit question at wespenreproductions@gmail.com. We very much enjoy doing these, and it seems like our listeners do, too! We have, as usual, improved the grammar in some questions, but of course made sure the content is the same. So, let's start!

QUESTION 1: When we are being creative and expressing our creative energies here, are we unintentionally feeding these energies to the overlords and this system? Should we not be creative and express our creative abilities then?

ANSWER: This is a good question. We are always creating here. We couldn't stop even if we tried. It is our thoughts that create what we experience here, and since there is no way to turn off our thoughts, there is no way to stop creation. We are creator beings and we can't be anything else.

It's true that because most people are ignorant of what's going on, the Overlords can feed from what we create—particularly because most of what people create is enhancing and solidifying the Construct. The more aware we become, the more we can create with better outcomes in mind, which will benefit the greater good rather than the Overlords. The more we do so, the less they can feed from us and what we create.

QUESTION 2: What's your opinion on DNA activation? Is activating the remaining 10 strands possible without undoing the genetic engineering directly?

ANSWER: The whole idea with 12 strand DNA we believe came from Barbara Marciniak's "Pleadians" back in the late 1980s, and many jumped on that bandwagon—including me at first. They later admitted that there is no such thing as 12 strand DNA; it was just a metaphor, so we could understand their teachings better, according to them. It's true that in the average person, only perhaps 5-7% of our DNA is active, and that's the DNA that we use here in the Patrix. The more we wake up to who we really are (Spirit and soul inhabiting a physical body), the more we activate the rest of the DNA within ourselves. The direct answer to your question is yes, we can activate more of our DNA, but we would say that at one point, when doing so, we come to a point when the body becomes obsolete and we'll "shed it." When we wake up to a certain level, we don't see any benefit with having a body because our focus will become on exiting the Matrix.

QUESTION 3: ...Buddhist teachings [for example] state that desire is creating an internal tension where one will never be able to be at peace while they hold any desire, the old desire is the root of all suffering saying...I, like everyone else have desires and while I am able to keep myself balanced (positive intention for me and others, wanting to grow and know, live in abundance, etc.) and not get to upset if something doesn't work how I would wish it would, some of those teachings still manage to make me feel guilty for even having desires. Or maybe my internal critic makes me believe that if I don't achieve "spiritual perfection" I will be suffering from guilt and won't "be accepted". That's something needing work. How do you see these issues and how would you manage this conflicting information especially with your knowledge (AIF, BLA, DF, etc.)? [Another person asked something similar]: Lately I have been experiencing a strong desire and it is causing me to disassociate from the present moment and myself. Is it wrong to have a desire? Will it make me attached to this matrix and hence hard for me leaving from here?

ANSWER: There's nothing wrong with having a desire. We are emotional beings and when we want to experience things that we hope will bring us joy this creates a desire. You do not need to feel guilty for having desires, whether it is for achieving specific goals or something that you feel will improve your life and give you pleasure. It is up to you to decide what would be beneficial to you or not. There is a big misunderstanding and assumption that to be higher on the Spiritual scale one must suffer or make sacrifices. This is simply not true. We would suggest working on your feelings of self-confidence and knowing that you deserve all that you want to achieve for yourself, and the more guilt you can release the more you create the vibration for all these things to manifest. We know it is very hard, but when you begin receiving what you want, your vibration and your self-confidence will soar!

QUESTION 4: Does the consideration of community/societal "morality" have any bearing on an individual's ability or permission to choose to escape the grid after death? It would seem that the sinner or saint that is sufficiently informed has an equal opportunity to escape the cycle of reanimation back on earth. This would also imply that any "good" deeds or any "bad" deeds--no matter how significant on earth--have little or no significance after death; it was just another expression of existence. Saving a hundred people would have about as much relevance (or lack thereof) as murdering a hundred people, would it not?

ANSWER: No, there is no requirement that you must achieve to get out. You don't need permission and there is no test you must pass. If you want out, then get yourself out. However, how you conduct yourself and your actions toward others may influence what you experience after you are out. When we are no longer in this matrix, we will be interacting with beings who will know who we are by our soul vibration and energy. We won't be able to hide anything from them. We feel it's best to have nothing to hide. When you choose to do "bad things", you lower your state of being to a very low vibration which attracts more, equally low, vibratory experiences. If this is what you choose for yourself, no one will stop you. What you choose to do, of course, is always up to you.

When a person lacks ethics and morals and treats others badly, it will sooner or later get back to them. A time will come when those around them will not put up with them anymore. There is freewill in the KHAA, but it doesn't lack morals and ethics. There are laws out there, too, and beings can't do horrendous things without being held responsible. Creating such laws also falls under the category of freewill.

QUESTION 5: When we leave this construct via an opening in the grid, do we then enter the nano world? Is entering the Khaa through the grid nano travel? ... If the Khaa is in nano size how can it be bigger than the earth we are living on?

ANSWER: Another excellent question. The KHAA is BOTH the macro- and the micro-world (nano-world). 3-D is not only OUR Construct—it's in 3-D that most star races start out, having physical bodies just like us, albeit less dense ones. The nano-world is what we enter when we travel with our mind. We literally send fires (soul pieces) out into the KHAA and into other dimensions—both for the purpose of travel and information gathering. Thus, a soul can be in one "place" and send out fires to the other side of the Universe with the speed of thought, using the nano-world to do so. More directly explained; the "physical" (dense) realms are the realms of matter, while the nano-world is the “spiritual” realm, to use terms that are being tossed around.

QUESTION 6: Why is it we look up to the skies, or north, when referring to any reverent beings, the KHAA, etc? What is actually down in the southern part of the KHAA? You even mentioned in your article on exiting the grid we look up to find a hole.

ANSWER: North, south, east, and west are just anchor points we are using while here in the Construct. Outside the Construct/Patrix, such directions become useless. Here, we’re using the Earth as a reference point—after death, we are using our expired physical body as a reference point when we look “up.”

QUESTION 7: Wes, by reading articles and materials just like yours, am I really having higher awareness? Or am I just informed?

ANSWER: Excellent question! Thank you! That depends on what you are doing with the material you are reading. It is wonderful to be well informed. However, we feel that we achieve higher awareness when we can take what we are learning and apply it to our own experiences and then that information becomes awareness and a knowing. That often leads to more expansion and a push forward to new information.

If the information you discern is true and you just read it as information, at the end of the day, it’s just data and information. The question to ask yourself would be, “how can I use this information in my own life? How will it benefit me?” Can you apply the information and make it yours?

QUESTION 8: What can you advise me or anyone who is becoming aware but still in their youth? What should we do? Can we still desire for the usual things like finish our study, have a nice and stable job, be in a romantic relationship, and then have a family in the future? ...

ANSWER: Go after your heart’s desire and enjoy your life. The biggest move we can make to counteract the abuse of this patrix is to overcome the common mindset of being depressed by our situation. They would love nothing more than for you to feel like you are suffering. Grow, prosper, and create a happy life! We feel we must add one word of caution, however...Choosing to have children AFTER you have become aware of our situation, should be considered very carefully. Now that you know, do you really want to bring another human into this system to potentially get trapped forever by the Singularity? It is likely that we might have to answer for that decision, eventually.

QUESTION 9: Is population reduction a viable plan of the “overlords,” is it a plan of their earthly “minions,” or is it a fear-producing distraction? And if we are to be reduced in number, and/or if the ultimate goal is to create controlled, obedient, emotionless, sexless, immortal, “grey-like” transhumanist beings...what human energy will the “overlords” and their “minions” have left to feed upon? Will our future usefulness be only to fight their battles? If so, what will be their food/energy source; Another planet filled with energetic potential?

ANSWER: We don't know exactly what they're planning when it comes to depopulation. One thought is that they will, to some degree, keep the population increase in check until the Singularity. Then, when the part of the population that hasn't yet become completely synthetic die off, these souls will go right into the Cloud and stay there as soul energy to feed the System. It would be logical to assume that they have already established how many synthetic bodies they want and let a certain number of souls manifest in the synthetic bodies. The rest might remain in the Cloud. They have no plans to stop feeding on us—once our soul energy is gathered in the Cloud, what a feast they can have—at least to start with! Our future usefulness certainly seems to be to invade Orion. The Overlords hope to ride on our soul energy/avatars out of here because they are limited as well to where they can go. It's our collective soul energy that will open the portals to Orion, and they will use us as shields and foot soldiers. If they succeed, they hope to be able to retrieve the creative energies that were taken away from them by Orion once upon a time.

QUESTION 10: In one of your articles in the Wes Penre Papers (WPP) you mention that Marduk is in charge of the Singularity but in your video series you say that En.ki has a hand in it. The Bible says that the implants (chipping) is associated with "The Mark of the Beast" which in this case is The Super Brain Computer aka The Cloud. If En.ki is against the Singularity and has warned against it through his scribes then why would he be in charge of this or even working with Marduk (having both factions of the AIF invade Orion together) I know that The Overlords play on polarity to keep this holographic construct in place so wouldn't it make more sense that Marduk would be in charge of The Singularity?

ANSWER: As we have researched further, it seems very plausible that Marduk and En.ki are one and the same—Marduk being a “soul aspect” of En.ki, so he can create polarity—the “good” god versus the “evil” god (God/Satan). This way, En.ki can lure most people into the Singularity. The majority will willingly go there because they are addicted to technology, but the more spiritually awake people will not. Thus, one faction of the Overlords is warning people against the Singularity and presents an ascension option instead (including Harvest, Rapture, and an Event). By playing both sides, they can get a much better result. The ascension, etc., will also lead right into the Singularity—it’s just a trick, so he also can get the spiritually awake humans captured in the Cloud.

QUESTION 11: I have heard of time travel and I was wondering if there could be time travelers who are here to help humanity to possibly avoid the things that the overlords have set up for us, now and in the near future?

ANSWER: Yes, time travel is possible, but the way timelines seem to work (see previous video), you can’t go back and change the past on the timeline you’re visiting. We hear about all these channeled entities who say they are us in the future, coming here to change our main, common timeline to their advantage (and supposedly to our advantage, as well). They are most likely humans, who got caught in the Singularity and the hive-mind that comes with it, and now they’re contacting us in THEIR past. If this is so, something might happen in the “future,” which makes it possible for them to contact us.

QUESTION 12: When someone has a disease of the brain, possibly Alzheimer’s, when they die, will they still have that affliction in the BLA?

ANSWER: Diseases, injuries, and disabilities are of the physical body and we will shed this physical body upon death. No, these things that affected the physical body are no longer present once the body is gone.

QUESTION 13: I've just found Doctor Peter Fenwick, he is interesting and all about NED's [I assume you mean Near Death Experiences or NDE's], but I couldn't help noticing huge encouragement to choose Hospices to die. Will that type of environment (and preparation) make easier "collective" soul entrapment/collection?

ANSWER: We see Hospice as a good thing. Usually, people can end their life in more peace and harmony. We're not completely sure what you mean by your last sentence, but if we attempt to answer it as we understand it, it doesn't have any bearing on soul entrapment/collection.
