Welcome to a new Q&A Session! Again, thank you for sending in your questions. Those who want to have their questions submitted can email them to wespenreproductions@gmail.com. We might not be able to answer all questions, however, depending on whether we know the answers or not, or whether your question might have been answered in a previous Q&A. With that said, let's start this session. We have abbreviated some questions and corrected some grammar for easier read and for me to narrate.

QUESTION 1: You've said, "Souls were created by the Queen for this reason (energy abled to operate in the KHAA)". But what was the Queen's main purpose or function for having these entities operate in the KHAA??? To purposely create negative polarity/duality? I mean if that is the case, I understand the logic but that is strange to think pre-meditated creation of something "negative" is not an act of a "DIVINE" entity?

ANSWER: The difference between duality and polarity is that duality has a positive and negative that CONFLICT each other, while polarity has a positive and negative that ATTRACT each other. Duality (good vs. evil, for example) is something that was introduced in this Construct by En.ki. It is not typical in the KHAA, where, instead of being dualistic, things exist side by side, and either or; not in conflict with each other.

The sole reason for creating souls was for the Divine Feminine (All That Is/Source) to have experiences. The Divine Feminine (DF) is Ultimate Spirit. Thus, She is static/immobile and can't have experiences. She just IS. The VOID/KHAA was, from what we understand, created "accidentally," and the DF split Herself into what was to become the Queen, who went into the VOID to explore. There was nothing there, but somehow, She was able to create energy, and from this energy, She could continue creating. This resulted in souls, who are collections of fire/energy, given their own individual consciousness, freewill, and in many instances, self-awareness. Now, the DF could experience Herself from different perspectives and learn more about Her potentials. So, the purpose of the soul is to create and experience and send this information back to the DF. Because souls have freewill, they are free to create negative or positive experiences. To the DF, there is no difference—She learns from both because they are both parts of Herself in form of potentials. Through interaction, souls can decide whether they prefer negative or positive experiences and make choices to participate in either or both by making choices. But the DF Herself is "neutral."

QUESTION 2: ... by not having "Spirit", does that mean these Spirit-less entities will never be able to TRULY reunify with SOURCE, much like the ANIMUS [referring to AI] for instance? Seems sad to me if this is the case and I can see why they resort to such measures for control/conquest since they were not gifted FREE-WILL?

ANSWER: Correct. By not having Spirit, one can not have a true connection to Source.

When soul was created by Spirit (the Queen), it was like if you would create an avatar (soul) in a video game. Let's say you make the avatar immortal, except if someone within the game develops a weapon that can blow it to pieces. If your avatar is terminated in the video game, you might say, "Darn!" and then create a new avatar. It's no bigger deal than that for the DF, other than She does not want this to happen because that avatar/soul will be lost and with that her the ability to develop her potentials from that point on. It's a waste of potentials, and a new avatar/soul needs to be created from scratch. The souls in the KHAA, whether spirited or not, have freewill, though. That part is not different between spirited and non-spirited souls. Freewill is the basic to having unlimited potentials.

QUESTION 3: We struggle with a sense of suffocating within the Patrix. We, on the forum, are largely awake to our experience of the breath being a natural, transcendent constant in the human/spirit experience. What can we arrive at, on this forum, to address the magnificent gift of the breath and its practice while we are in these meat suits? Americans don't breathe [correctly]!!!!

ANSWER: Good question! Pay attention to the way you breathe. If most of us will notice, we tend to breathe very shallowly most of the time. Shallow breathing can become a habit or a way of being for many reasons, but it would be beneficial to take a few minutes each day to consciously allow yourself to breathe deeply. The "Quantum Pause" breathing technique or a good meditation practice that focuses on slow, deep breaths could help. You don't need any specific exercise, though. Just pause in your day occasionally, to take some good, slow, deep breaths. Do whatever feels comfortable for you.

Breathing is very important—not only to physically survive in the Patrix, but also for us to rejuvenate ourselves and maintain and rebuild our energy. When we do deep breathing, we connect to the quantum and subquantum/nano-world. The Quantum Pause was developed by James Mahu of the WingMakers. It's described both in the WPP and in the Wes Penre e-book, BEYOND 2012..., which can be downloaded for free on our blog, located at <https://wespenrepublications.home.blog>.

QUESTION 4: Any ideas or suggestions on how a person can visit their fears w/o feeding the existing fear-based thought form[s]?

ANSWER: Yes! Learn where those fears are coming from and why you are holding on to them. Sometimes, when we can examine a fear without being in the moment of anxiety, we can more easily see why we are afraid. At a time when you feel good and calm, write down all the things you can think of that make you afraid. Simply doing this might trigger those fears. If it does, put the task aside and do something pleasurable that will help calm your adrenal system down and reduce the automatic survival response. You can come back to it a few days later or whenever you are comfortable. Take one item at a time (to take too many at once is too overwhelming) and examine what is creating your fear about it. The human survival mechanism; flight/fight/freeze response has been heavily manipulated to keep us in a constant state of anxiety and adrenal fatigue. When we can examine our fears one at a time, we can better determine if this is a logical or practical fear or whether this response has been generated by manipulation. Some fears are rational and it's good that we have them! They keep us and our loved ones safe. When examining your fears, ask yourself, "What is the WORST thing that can happen if this thing I fear happens?" Be honest with yourself, and if death is not one of those consequences, usually most everything else can be resolved by taking the appropriate action to know that you are prepared to handle the situation. Then you can ask yourself if this fear is something you must conquer or can you actively remove it from your life.

QUESTION 5: Nikola Tesla said, “If you want to find the secrets of the universe, think in terms of energy, frequency and vibration.” Do you have an opinion on the power that sound frequencies possess, and how do they fit in with the En.ki earth construct? Can we utilise sound waves to empower and heal or are they just another part of the trap? If they are a good thing, worth exploring, can you perhaps recommend a reliable source of information to research further?

ANSWER: Sound/resonance is an essential part of creating universes—not only the Patrix but also the KHAA. Of course, the Overlords have modified the frequencies to fit En.ki’s Construct so he can keep humans trapped in here. Thus, we can utilize sound waves to empower ourselves and to heal. All we need to do is to learn about different frequencies and how they affect us. We don’t have any references to this, but anyone who’s interested in learning more, we’re sure there is a lot of information about it on the Internet.

QUESTION 6: How can you tell who is Namlu’u? It's pretty easy to tell who is the 'elite', but everyone else seems to just fall into the big 'enslaved' group. What distinguishing characteristics, if any, do God spirited beings have?

ANSWER: The spirited beings (Namlu’u/original) are the compassionate ones, who are genuinely empathetic, caring, and loving in a broader perspective than what is the human average norm on this planet. Many Namlu’us also know inside, for a fact, that there is much more to life than just this 3-D reality. We are the genuine truth-seekers. Those who don’t have any interest in these areas and can’t relate to these things but might still be very decent people, are often souled but non-spirited. However, not all Namlu’us are truth-seekers. Then we have those who commit crimes, abuse others, suck our energies, and refuse (or can’t) repent. These are the empty vessels/narcissists/psychopaths and sociopaths. This is how we understand it. When being a spirited being, we usually feel when we’ve met someone who is very similar to us, whether they are truth-seekers or not.

We only have a small checklist of qualities that the original Namlu'u possessed. Humans have the ability to fake compassion and empathy to certain degrees, so to put a label on individuals based on these qualities would be pointless. It's best to look at how a person behaves to determine how they are oriented regarding spirituality. So many of us have been totally transformed as to resemble nothing like our original state of being. It would be too difficult to try and sort everyone into categories. In the end, we are human and so we must relate to each other the best we can as humans.

QUESTION 7: When one does psychedelics (mushrooms, peyote, etc.), what is one connecting with? And what ultimately are the advantages AND disadvantages of these substances?

ANSWER: We don't have any definitive answer for this as we have no experience with them. We can only base our answer on what we have read by those who have and by those who have experience with the nonphysical realms of our reality. To the best of our understanding, there exists a veil or a boundary of perception between this physical realm and the nonphysical realms. Our mind/consciousness is the vehicle we use to access these nonphysical realms. When we engage in mind or conscious altering substances, that boundary or veil become more flexible and penetrable. The advantage would be that we can more easily experience this realm. The disadvantages would be that this might expose any vulnerabilities we have to being manipulated and misinterpreting the information or experiences we might encounter. There are also some physical risks in having your physical body active at the same time your consciousness is perceiving something other than your physical reality. There can be some cross-interference where your mind thinks it is doing one thing and your body is doing something else. One example of this would be your consciousness might experience the perspective of flying which may cause you to attempt physical actions that are not safe. We would caution that this should only ever be conducted with experienced chaperones who can monitor your physical body to keep you safe.

We don't promote any of these mind-enhancing/altering substances because what we suspect is that they open up portals in our minds to higher densities, where we invite thought-forms of positive or negative polarity, depending on our mindset, and sometimes ascended humans from En.ki's realms or Marduk's lower realms. People might have profound experiences, but we believe that the portals that we open could there after remain more or less open for entities to potentially enter—i.e. we open our chakras by taking these substances. Normally, most people close and open these portals/chakras on and off without noticing it, but if some parts of them remain open, we might lose the ability to control what we pull in from the non-physical realms. These are just our conclusions, based on the recent research we've done and shared in the recent YouTube videos and on Patreon.

QUESTION 8: In one of your videos you mentioned that The Great Flood of approximately 13,000 years ago was initiated by Orion (The Queen) to destroy/set back En.ki's Patrix (which caused a major setback). Why can't this be done again as we approach the Singularity?

ANSWER: The Flood was instigated by Khan En.lil. It says in the ancient texts that the “noise” here was so loud that he couldn't sleep (a metaphor, of course). Just before the Flood, En.ki had destroyed and diluted the original Experiment to such an extent with his genetic manipulation that it became deemed completely useless. This angered Khan En.lil. However, at that time, there was still no Grid, and the humans here on Earth had some connection to the KHAA. We believe that the termination of the Experiment 13,000 years ago or so was called for by the human soul group. Humans were complaining about their situation and wanted something to be done about it. That was an invitation, based on the human soul group's freewill, for Khan En.lil to intervene and send the Flood to wipe out and end the Experiment. That could have been the end of it, if it wasn't for En.ki.

En.ki saved the Experiment by saving the DNA of homo sapiens and secretly continued the Experiment after the Deluge—without Orion's permission. That's when the Grid was set up, the Between Lives Area (BLA) was created, and humanity got amnesia. Today, very few people on Earth are asking for help from outside to terminate this Experiment, and because of this, it's not as easy to do it as it was back then. This is our understanding.

QUESTION 9: Is there any chance we can save the Living Library here on Earth? I do not want this planet destroyed. When we exit the grid, can we still work towards helping humankind in some way? Then possibly, incarnate here again into human bodies, once the AIF are no longer here, and humans have sovereignty over the planet.

ANSWER: The Earth is not the Living Library. It is only a remnant of the planet that was previously the Living Library. No, we can not recreate it here. The animal and plant life have been modified and the landscape terraformed to create what we have now and the contamination of lifeforms on this planet, including humans, can not be reversed. This is a planet where everything ages and dies—that's not how it's supposed to be. If your desire is to remain attached to this planet, then this intention will guarantee that you remain here. This is your choice. The AIF do not intend to leave here, and the planet will never be free from them. The design that we have here is created for their benefit and they are a part of it. If we could use a metaphor, we might say that all of this exists within En.ki's mind and to be rid of him for good, we must be willing to escape and leave him behind.

This is not our world and never was. There are much more beautiful and sustainable worlds in the KHAA that do not decay. And remember, out there you can even create your own worlds.

QUESTION 10: In one of your Q and A video series you mention that En.ki (Lucifer) is residing in the Abzu but which Abzu are you referring to, the one on Earth or The Void (KHAA)?

ANSWER: Both. The soul trapped in this Patrix are still in the KHAA, although we are so fixed and focused on our physical experience that we have forgotten how to connect with the KHAA around us (the "invisible") Universe). That aside, En.ki resides in the ABZU, which is also called the “Transcendental Water” or the “Sweet Water,” which, from our human perspective, would be the water the Universe is made of. The ABZU is located anywhere from the astral, outside the Firmament, in the solar system, and sometimes even outside the solar system. In other words, he resides in the non-physical planes.

QUESTION 11: In the Wes Penre Papers (WPP), the “Third Level of Learning,” you wrote and relayed about The Thubans (The Alpha Draconians) residing in the 12th Dimension which according to their model is the last Dimension in the Void, where Dimensions 1-8 is the physical Universe. They say that they are in charge of “The Harvest” and will see to that it happens because we humans called for them (our future selves). Will this “Thuban Council” appear openly to humans in the future? Will the Earth (Gaia) drastically change by them? What is the biggest reason why we should not trust them?

ANSWER: The person who represented the Thubans later said it was all made up, but I don’t buy that at all. This person must have either channeled them or had a “data dump” from these “beings.” Like with all the rest of the channeled material—most of them channeling on similar subjects—are, from what we have concluded, “advanced” humans who have ascended within En.ki’s Construct, according to his Ascension Program. Their job is to contact us and inspire truth-seeking human beings (Namlu’u) to look for God (En.ki) and work on their ascension, so they can come closer to God/En.ki. It’s a built-in program that some of us humans have, also mentioned by James Mahu of the WingMakers and Robert Monroe (The Monroe Institute) in “Far Journeys”, the second book of his JOURNEYS TRILOGY. We, who are here and have absorbed the WES PENRE PAPERS are the lucky ones. We know about this deception and we know we need to exit through the Grid. However, if we didn’t know about the Grid and the KHAA, etc., where would we have ended up? Probably in En.ki’s Ascension Program, like so many others have. Thus, the reason to not take them too seriously is because they are just as deceived as we are—they believe that we should go where they are and be “harvested,” when, in reality, they are still caught within the trap.

QUESTION 12: Do all the exercises and suggestions in [the] BEYOND 2012 HANDBOOK and in one of the Levels solutions still apply to us in 2019, and are they still current, applicable to today?

ANSWER: Yes, they will always remain current. All these practices are just tools. Meditation is a tool, visualization processes are tools, and the other practices are tools, as well. Ultimately, we don’t need these tools—we can achieve what we want without them—but they can be very helpful for many to reach that point, and it’s certainly nothing wrong with using tools when we need to. The link to the book was given in the answer to a previous question in this Q&A, but we’ll also put it in the Description box below.
